

PUBLISHING POETRY, CREATIVE NONFICTION, AND PHOTOGRAPHY WITH A HEALING BENT

OUR WHY

We believe that the creative power of storytelling, poetry, writing allow light to shine in between the empty spaces. We believe that this power transforms and inspires the writer as well as the reader. We believe that there needs to be more space made for individual and collective stories that exemplify the intersection of art & healing to be made. We believe we're helping to expand that space.

OUR WHAT

Each quarter, since 2015, we have been publishing poetry, creative nonfiction, and photography -- all with a healing bent -- from around the globe. Our online journal features emerging and established writers and artists. And, unlike many other literary magazines, we will publish previously released pieces (why, as writers, should we limit our work to only one pub?) :-).

OUR HOW

We are volunteer-run, and subscriptions (only $20 for the year) and memberships ($35 for annual subscriptions + perks) go to support our infrastructure so that each quarter we can deliver a state-of-the-art journal. We are planning for growth and have many new initiatives coming. Make sure you sign up on our website to get our emails and follow us on social media (details below).

OUR 2021 SUBMISSION THEMES

For our poets, writers, and photographers, we are focusing on "grief" in 2021. Some ask, "Why such a heavy theme?" Our response is, "What's submitted doesn't have to be heavy nor have to do specifically with grief. But we do want to make space for the raw, the uncomfortable, the dark even because we know it's part of the healing journey."
(be sure to see our submission dates)

AND

Because we want to reach as many as we can who are interested in exploring art & healing, we host virtual #artandhealing popups featuring an artist who will guide you through a creative practice, and we have a blog that highlights "everyday people" using art as a catalyst for healing! See what's coming up next on our website.
